

Gemma Stapleton (she/her)

Junior Treasurer

About me:

I am a second year Engineer at Queens' and I'd love to be your treasurer this year! I've really enjoyed being CUADC Publicist for the last twelve months and I'm looking to take on more responsibility within CUADC to finance our shows and events.

My Cambridge Theatre experience so far:

Whilst you may have seen me performing with Show Choir at the end of last term, I mainly get involved in theatre backstage, in various different capacities! I've been involved in a range of shows from panto and musicals to sketch shows and plays and I think it's important that CUADC continues to support a wide range of productions.

I have experience dealing with student society bank accounts, handovers and related admin so I would work with the current treasurer to ensure that the handover was as minimally disruptive as possible (both now and with the treasurer in 2025!). I also sat on show selection panel in Easter 2023 which gave me an insight into how programming works at a venue like the ADC. Having been CUADC Publicist this year I know how the committee operates which is useful in a Group O position!

What I would do in the role:

Show reimbursements:

As treasurer I would support production team members with regular reimbursements, and by paying any big one-off payments straight from the CUADC account. I would also endeavour to be approachable and available to shows throughout the production process to update the budget where needed.

Community and accessibility:

I really enjoyed working on the Get Involved Campaign over the summer and at the start of this academic year, and as treasurer I would again like to be an active participant in encouraging those new to Cambridge and/or theatre to get started, even if they have never done anything like this before!
